

Advancing the visual arts

NSCAD University invites applications for 1 Assistant Professors, Painting and Drawing.

Subject to budgetary and final approval, an initial three-year appointment, renewable for continuing appointment.

DEADLINE

January 15, 2018

NSCAD is offering a tenure-track position in Painting/Drawing. Preference will be given to candidates who have demonstrated the ability to teach all levels of Painting and Drawing. Teaching assignments require familiarity with objective/observational, and non-objective approaches to painting and drawing. The successful applicant will be conversant with contemporary and historical art discourses related to the position. Knowledge of expanded and innovative painting and drawing practices and innovative/interdisciplinary areas of inquiry are an asset. This position will serve undergraduate and graduate students in BFA and MFA programs.

NSCAD welcomes applications from those whose practices address and support diverse social and political perspectives including but not limited to: indigenous art practices, diasporic art practices, feminist art practices, queer art practices and collaborative art practices.

Required: a minimum MFA in Fine Arts with a concentration in Painting and Drawing (or equivalent terminal degree), active research and/or professional practice with the potential for development on a national and/or international scale and relevant teaching experience. We are seeking a candidate with evidence of the skills required for departmental administration and committee work central to the organization of the Division and University

APPLICATIONS

Applications must include a cv, teaching philosophy, statement of research interests, up to 20 images of applicant's professional work and up to 15 jpg images of students' work, an image list and names/contact information of three referees. NSCAD will seek permission from the applicant before contacting referees. Applications should be submitted electronically as a single continuous PDF document. Please name your document by Last name, First name only. For video and/or moving image files, please provide a link to a website on the image list.
